

Goals

To raise the standard of energy support across the sector. We aim to train every operator, support every system, and design smarter, cleaner power solutions built around real-world use.

Professional Services

Training

Practical, no-nonsense training on BESS, Stage V engines and power systems. On-site or classroom-based.

System Support

Call-outs, servicing and maintenance for any victron based system.

Remote Monitoring

Live system data and diagnostics via VRM and other platforms. We act before issues become problems.

Bespoke Solutions

Custom-designed BESS and hybrid systems, built to your exact needs.

Power Partnerships

We train your team, support your kit and stay with you as you grow.

Management Plans

A solution that includes a mixture of the above for a fixed-cost package, covering monitoring, maintenance, updates and reporting, keeping performance high and costs predictable.

Vision

Zower's vision is to change the way the world thinks about power, ditching quick fixes and off-the-shelf kit in favour of long-term partnerships built on trust, performance, and progress. We see a future where every system is supported, every operator trained, and every solution built to fit.

We're here to lead the shift to smarter, cleaner energy, helping businesses get more from what they've got, while designing what they'll need next. With the right training, the right tools, and the right support, we give our customers the confidence to power forward.

Zower isn't just a supplier. We're your go-to energy partner. We are ready to train your team, keep your fleet performing, and build the next big idea with you.

Mission

Zower exists to be your long-term partner in power. We help you get the best from what you've got. We do this through expert training and full-lifecycle support of your existing fleet and are ready to design the bespoke energy systems you'll need next. From battery storage to hybrid power, we make sure your equipment performs, your team is confident, and your business stays one step ahead. Whether we built the system or not, we'll help you run it right.

"From years of supporting customers, I know that power only matters when it works. That's why Zower is built to train your team, support your fleet, and deliver systems that perform when you need them most."

James Stewart, Co-Founder
